

Robert Sahd

Robert Sahd is a highly successful business and real estate entrepreneur with more than 30 years experience as a business owner and residential and commercial builder.

As a real estate entrepreneur, Robert owns several development companies across the Southwest located in New Mexico, Arizona and Texas, focused on both residential and commercial real estate. He is currently involved in the development of a major luxury oceanfront condominium project in Mexico as well as several other residential and commercial developments across the Southwest. Robert has sold and developed properties for major commercial companies including Eckert/CVS Drugs, Popeye's and McDonald's restaurants, hospitals, apartment complexes, office complexes and assisted living communities. With business associate, Scott Schiabor of Albuquerque-based Scott Patrick Family of Companies, Robert designed and developed Andalucia, a New Mexico residential development and a showcase for environmental sensitivity, among other projects. In all his projects, Robert strives to build in harmony with the natural environment of the Southwest.

As a business entrepreneur, Robert owns Zia Realty, Inc., real estate brokerage in Albuquerque, N.M., self-storage facilities and other businesses in the retail sector.

Robert holds a Bachelor's Degree from the University of New Mexico and is an avid art collector and owner of the legendary and world-class Hotel La Fonda de Taos in Taos, New Mexico. Hotel La Fonda de Taos is well known for its outstanding exhibit of D.H. Lawrence's paintings which Robert has meticulously restored and maintained. He is also an avid skier and is very family oriented.